YOUR SAFEST CHOICE ON THE INTERNET

There are more than 13 million children in Europe like you, who use the Internet regularly. If you are looking for information for your homework, or you just want to have fun, the Internet is a great place, but you must be aware of the dangers and follow the advice below:

DON'T CLICK ON UNKNOWN LINKS

When you are chatting through instant messaging or you receive an email, never click directly on any links. IF YOU DON'T KNOW THE PERSON THAT IT HAS COME FROM, THE BEST THING IS TO IGNORE IT.

DON'T DOWNLOAD FILES FROM UNKNOWN SOURCES

No doubt you have often received instant messages inviting you to download a photo, a song or a video. SOMETIMES, THIS FILE COULD HAVE BEEN SENT NOT BY YOUR CONTACT, BUT BY A VIRUS THAT HAS INFECTED THEIR COMPUTER AND WHICH IS TRYING TO SPREAD TO OTHER USERS.

That's why you should always ask your contacts if they have really sent you something. If they haven't, let them know that they are infected so they can delete the file and advise their other contacts.

DON'T RUN SUSPICIOUS FILES

If your security solution tells you that a file could or does contain malware, don't open the file. JUST DELETE IT.

DON'T TALK TO STRANGERS

In chatrooms or on instant messaging, YOU CAN NEVER REALLY BE SURE WHO YOU ARE TALKING TO. Never make friends with strangers, and under no circumstances should you ever arrange to meet them in real life.

DON'T GIVE OUT CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION ACROSS THE INTERNET

Never send private information (your details, your address, etc.) via email or instant messaging, and never publish this kind of information in a blog or on a forum. You should also take care when you create profiles for services such as FaceBook or Myspace. You should never include confidential information such as your age or your address. It is also best not to use your real name, but a false name or nick.

BEWARE OF TEMPTING OFFERS OF WORK

Generally, nobody gives anything away for nothing. So if you receive fantastic offers of work from unknown users, just IGNORE THEM.

SPEAK TO YOUR PARENTS OR TEACHERS

If you have any questions about any of this, if you see something suspicious or you receive offensive or dangerous emails, speak to an adult. They will be able to advise you.

Use the Internet responsibly and always ask your parents or teachers for help when you need it.

That way, you will always be safe and will enjoy and get the most out of the Internet
